African migrants and Europe : managing the ultimate frontier

By examining the role of Gaddafi's Libya in the last ten years as a gendarme of Europe, it argues for a re-visioning of borders and frontiers in ways that can account for their dialectical nature, and for the dialectical nature of political life. This text will be of key interest to scholars and students of European studies, African studies, security studies, international relations, global studies, comparative politics, cultural geography, migration studies and border theory.

Frontiers and lives | African Migrants and Europe | Taylor ...

This chapter explains the study of borders from the perimeter of nation-states' governing narratives and underline their complex nature, focusing on specific intersections between African migrant's trajectories and national identities in order to "reactivate the constituent moment of the border".
